Family Notebook

Wenatchee

Wenatchee

Saturday,  July 5, 2013

[0x0]Friday,  July 5, 2013

St. Suite B.

a meeting at 7 p.m. July 11 at the Achieve Center, 1111 N. Mission planned from 10 a.m. to noon Saturday ist Church invites the community to two free workshops in relief, an update on immigration reform, a call to biblically based an educational forum on immigration reform from 10:30 a.m. to brain engaged this summer

Free Spanish workshops to be held in Wenatchee

Educational forum on immigration reform set for Monday

W

Tips for keeping your child's brain engaged this summer

Long summer breaks are generally not in the best academic interests of our kids. Students typically score lower on standardized tests at the end of summer than they do at the beginning of summer. Students lose two months' worth of math and reading skills each summer.

Young learners, especially girls and boys, should read and write every day they are home. Here are some ideas:

- Keep a reading journal. You read to them, jump a grade level, you should have them
- Make a list of things they don't like, how it affected you. How it
- Think about the policy change. Lord's had he sat in the
- More than 16,000 times. His
- Students have always been gay
- Young learners need exercise, and basic
- Young learners read to you. When your
- They've read. "Which child was
- Social and emotional skills and
- You would have never kicked
- Students have always been gay
- The Wenatchee World
- Bothell, Boy Scouts in identi
- We want to keep every-
- We would have never kicked
- "We're going to go on vacation. Establish
- The Boy Scouts learned
- The membership change on
- "There's no reason to do
- "My son is not gay, but because of the
- Bartlow does not want to
- "You have to go somewhere
- "There's no reason to do
- "My son is not gay, but because of the